

Hannah & Rasanga

Meeting through mutual friends, Hannah and Rasanga tied the knot in front of 150 guests in a beautiful ceremony held at Albert Street Uniting Church in Brisbane. The service was officiated by Hannah's godmother, a Uniting Church minister, which meant a lot to the couple. Hannah wore a custom-designed bridal gown by Leonard Derecourt Designer. She looked stunning in a fitted-fishtail gown with a long train, lace detail and a belt to accentuate her waist. Rasanga and his groomsmen wore navy suits, while the bridesmaids wore matching pink sarees, with white scalloped lace, which were hand-stitched by Rasanga's mother and aunty. The reception was held at Hillstone St Lucia in The Grandview Room, and canapés were served on the Mango Tree Terrace. The theme for the day was a mix of Sri Lankan style with contemporary Western elements, and was carried through from the invitations to the ceremony cards, reception decorations, menus, signage, entertainment, cake and bomboniere. Rasanga's cousin even managed to book ceremonial Kandyan dancers, who were a hit with the guests! The guests commented on how fun and relaxed the wedding was, and Hannah and Rasanga were so happy to see everyone enjoying themselves.

“Once everything is ready and the day comes, just relax and enjoy it with your family and friends!”
